

ABSTRACT

The invention is directed to a honey extender and a honey comprising composition having the honey extender. The honey comprising composition has elevated levels of oligosaccharides and does not display sugar crystallization when stored at ambient temperature for at least about three years.